

I probably will not purchase any HDTV equipment unless I can record programs for later viewing at the time of my choice. I am not willing to plan my life around TV broadcast schedules just to get an improvement in video quality.